OUR VERY OWN BEACH

Not many people can say that!

The summer highs have passed for another year and as the cooler weather rolls in to the capital it's time to hit the beach – but not any old beach. Your very own beach, literally just a stone's throw from your home, has opened.

So get your bucket and spade, give yourself a smothering of sun block and wander on down to this winters hot spot.

Once there you'll notice a few things. First up – this wasn't here before? You're right over 50% of the beach has been reshaped and land reclaimed to form what we have today. The extra sand that we needed to make sure the beach looks as good as it does has come from excess not required at Almouj Golf.

What we have is a safe and sustainable beach that is not open to the public. One that we hope you, family and friends will enjoy but to keep it special we would like to highlight a few key guidelines. In line with regulations set out by the Municipality: no dogs; no barbecues and no driving on the beach!

You may notice crabs have already made our beach their new home, which is fantastic as they are natural cleaners but even they will struggle with a tin can! We have a cleaning vehicle, which will regularly do the rounds, however we urge you use the bins provided or take any rubbish home with you.

The team behind the beach would like to thank you for your patience. Have fun, be safe and keep on eye on the sun, it may be winter but it's still pretty hot out there!

Protecting the beach from bad weather and general erosion:

- The outer reef or breakwater is the largest under construction in the world today. It measures around 2km and reduces swell and helps fight erosion. The natural rock finish is already attracting an abundance of marine life to the area. Keep an eye out for Nemo.
- Further in shore we have added groyne fields that guide water flow and limit the movement of sediment. The groynes trip the waves to reduce their height, which creates a safer swimming environment for you and helps in the preservation of the beach.
- To the back of the beach, in front of the villas, there is a sloping wall of rocks under the sand for added protection in case of bad weather. This area is being planted with natural dune grass as the roots help keep the sand in place.

EX40

The reigning champions, TWM, have a tough act to follow. Teams from the prestigious Americas Cup have joined this year's Extreme Sailing Series™ making it all just a little bit more extreme. Here is an update on how your boys in blue are doing.

ACT 1 – Muscat, Oman

Back in late February you witnessed the world's top sailors kick off the Extreme Sailing Series™ down at Almouj Marina. The sailors championed the Muscat leg as they saw perfect sailing conditions during the week. 6th place wasn't the start TWM crew were hoping for but since then they've got a bit more wind in their sails.

ACT 2 – Qingdao, China

The wind blew hard in China's sailing city. Racing in 25 knots (46 Kph) downwind the crew got hit by a strong gust and boom! the boat and the crew nosedived into the sea. The boys were shaken but came off unscathed; the boat's mast snapped and was out of action for the rest of day three. The crew fought back in the remaining days but finished 7th.

ACT 3 – Istanbul, Turkey

4th place in Turkey was a fitting end to Torvar Mirsky's time helming TWM. He is now back full time with The Wave, Muscat Match Racing Team who are currently lying 3rd in the challenging World Match Racing Tour after winning in St. Mortiz.

ACT 4 – Boston, USA

New Skipper Leigh McMillan joined Khamis Al Anbouri, Nick Hutton and Kyle Langford in Boston and the two times British Olympian made an immediate impact - winning the first race of the week and helping the team to their first podium finish of the series. 3rd in Boston and the anticipation grew as the next stop was in the newcomers home waters.

ACT 5 – Cowes, UK

This is the big one, the home of sailing, TWM won here last year and went on to win the series - would they be able to repeat the win in 2011.

Massive crowds greeted the teams in Cowes and they were rewarded with a master class in catamaran sailing from the local boy. Leigh McMillan grew up sailing these waters and the home advantage paid off. TWM sailed with distinction during the prestigious Cowes Week and proudly stood at the top of the podium at the end of a windy and gnarly week.

ACT 6 – Trapani, Italy

Another fantastic week in Italy saw the boys take top honours in Italy. With only three more legs to go we are in 3rd overall for the series so far. TWM will be competing in France, Spain and the finale in Singapore before the end of the year. We'll let you know how they get on in the next edition of Life but join us on facebook for regular updates during race weeks.

GETTING READY FOR THE OPENING ROUND

14 of the 18 holes have now been grassed, the mowers are out and the golf facility has been officially named as Almouj Golf.

The team at Almouj Golf made a conscious decision not to use the word club in the name as it implied that the facility is a members only golf course. With famed Omani hospitality Almouj Golf welcomes all guests irrespective of your golfing prowess and we hope that you will enjoy the facility when it opens at the end of the year.

The course at Almouj Golf is a challenging 18 holes of varying lengths and configurations. Greg Norman, the legendary Australian golfer and designer of our course, has captured the essence of the surrounding environment and enhanced it to produce a links style course that runs along side your beach. The course is 7,300 yards in length, including a daunting Par 3 island green and a challenging Par 5 that stretches over 600 yards. The course will initially open with 9 holes in December and the additional 9 holes and floodlit Par 3 course will be completed and available to play during 2012.

Almouj Golf also has an academy, which consists of a state of the art swing studio, driving range and private golf lesson area. Experienced golf professionals will be available to teach newcomers and help experienced golfers improve their game. Special programmes will be available for juniors, ladies, men and families.

Kempinski

HOTELIERS SINCE 1897

Introducing the sublime Kempinski, The Wave, Muscat

The design for the stunning hotel has been approved after a considered process that saw many of the world's leading architecture design practices challenge for the desirable prize. The result for Europe's oldest hotel group is anything but stuffy.

The multi award winning Woods Bagot were commissioned to undertake architecture, landscape and interior design services for the landmark hotel in the heart of the community.

Their pedigree is second to none with stunning contemporary buildings such as the Qatar Science & Technology Park, Melbourne Convention & Exhibition Centre and many others to their name. The team understood The Wave's vision as well as the functional, operational and cultural needs. Their own thinking was inspirational and created a solution that worked for everyone.

As you can see from the pictures the results speak for themselves. Scheduled to open its doors in 2014, Kempinski, The Wave, Muscat will boast 309 luxury hotel rooms and 77 hotel apartments along with destination gym and spa, two swimming pools, extensive food and beverage outlets along an urban streetscape, verdant landscaped gardens and a superb iconic ballroom. The hotel aims to lead the luxury hospitality market in Muscat in both the leisure and retail markets and the best thing of all is that they will be your neighbours.

"Our unconventional design approach results in exceptional properties, which capture the essence of their environment and create memorable experiences unique to culture and context providing an exclusive guest experience."

A QUESTION OF TASTE

Ever since the first coffee was poured in 1971 by Costa Coffee they have been devoted to taste. Sergio and Bruno Costa worked tirelessly to create the unique Mocha Italia blend that manages to combine the sweetness, bitterness and body needed to make the perfect cup of coffee.

The closely guarded secret is maintained by using Arabica and some Robusta beans from only the top 1% of the world's coffee and one man with his exceptionally expensive tongue - Gennaro Pelliccia.

The Italian Master of Coffee's sensory skills are so crucial to Costa that Gennaro Pelliccia's tongue has been insured by Lloyds of London for 10 million GBP (6.2m OMR). The average tongue has approximately 10,000 taste buds, so it's a whopping 1,000 GBP for each one. Pelliccia's insurer compared his taste buds to the chords of an opera singer or the legs of a top model.

His 18 years experience allows Pelliccia to distinguish between hundreds of flavours and pinpoint any defects, which enable him to protect and guarantee Costa's unique Mocha Italia blend. Coffee beans have up to 800 flavour characteristics that our senses can detect. Red wine, by comparison, only has 400. Tasting coffee is an art form. To detect the most amount of flavour from the coffee bean, it must be tasted properly.

Watch the master at work

Much like wine tasting Pellicia and his team spend hours every day examining, cupping and charting the exact acidity, body, sweetness, bitterness and aroma profiles of their Mocha Italia blend. It's an obsession. If any coffee doesn't make the grade, it doesn't make it to a Costa store, simple as that.

However, it isn't just Pellicia who is thinking about perfect taste. Costa Coffee has recently published global research identifying our perceptions of good and bad taste and how it impacts our lives.

Out of 9,000 people questioned in eight different countries the findings reveal that taste plays a crucial role in influencing our lives and the decisions we make. Fashion is the most important area to have good taste in. George Clooney has the best taste in the world according to six out of the eight countries asked. 25% of Chinese shoot David Beckham to the top of their league. Tom Cruise has the best taste for 22% of Russians and the same percentage of Indians think that Bollywood star, Shilpa Shetty is the one to watch.

So what about you?

Enjoy the warm Italian welcome of Costa Coffee right on your doorstep and come armed with the latest edition of Ahlan to make your own decision on who has the best taste - Clooney or the man with the worlds most expensive tongue -

Thai to die for

Thai cuisine is considered one of the world's most delicious. It uses the complex blend of tastes: spicy, sweet, salty, bitter and sour to complement each other and get your taste buds singing. Thai cooking uses the freshest ingredients available to create the unique taste and now the best Thai in town is right here at The Wave.

Chu Chee Kung

Ingredients (serves 4)

750 ml coconut milk
4 tablespoons red curry paste
2 tablespoons grated palm sugar
6 tablespoons fish sauce
4 tablespoons chicken stock
a good squeeze of lime juice
12 King prawns (shells can be removed but do make sure you de-vein the prawns)
4 Kaffir Lime leaves
2 red chillies (de-seeded and sliced)
A few Thai Basil leaves

Take a wok and warm the coconut milk over a moderate heat until just under boiling. Add in the red curry paste (we make our own from a secret recipe but you'll be able to find it in any of the local supermarkets) and stir - releasing the incredible fragrances. Add the sugar, fish sauce and mix well.

Roughly chop the Kaffir Lime leaves and add to the wok with the juicy prawns. Cook for no more than five minutes. To garnish add the lime juice, a couple of fresh Thai Basil leaves and the sliced red chilli - make sure it's not too hot for you!

This dish is perfect when served with fragrant Jasmine rice. That's it, couldn't be simpler.

Native planting

'dog off leash' enclosure

THE LINEAR PARK

Opened in August the first stage of the Linear Park has given residents access to a new area for casual walks and fitness which runs parallel with 18th of November Street. See the map on the first page to see how to access the park.

The idea behind the park is two fold. Firstly it provides a unique recreational space for the community. The spine of the park will be a 3 meter wide, shared footpath that is punctuated by seating and exercise stations. It also includes a 'dog off leash' enclosure. When complete it will be about two kilometres in length and will be a great place for your morning jog.

Secondly the park has been landscaped with native Omani plants, which will mature during the cooler months and create the vision of a real Omani landscape experience. Whilst our native plants do not look as lush or colourful as some of the imported ornamental plants they provide a valuable habitat for native Omani wildlife and allow continuity of the local and regional ecology. The planting is more sustainable in terms of water & energy consumption because ultimately it won't require as much irrigation to survive, minimizing our carbon footprint.

Run free

The park features a purpose built 'dog off leash' enclosure with trees, shrubs, tunnels and obstacles for residents to give their pets a secure environment to let off some steam. In accordance with Muscat law and regulations our beach is a dog free zone so this new facility is a great alternative.

Dog walkers will also have noticed that The Wave have provided bags and bins to clear up any calls of nature. We urge you to use this facility in a bid to keep our environment clean.

MAJOR PETTIGREW'S LAST STAND

By Helen Simonson

If I'm honest; I only picked up this book because I liked the cover. it's something that I should stop as it's a habit that often bears no fruit – especially since alarm bells were ringing as I scanned the blurb on the back about some old retired Major. It really didn't sound like my cup of tea but hey, why not.

So what's it all about?

Major Pettigrew is the quintessential English gentleman trying to retain a sense of dignity when the world around him is falling from what he perceives as correct. He has that very dry British sense of humour, sometimes sarcastic but always hits the nail on the head as he observes daily life.

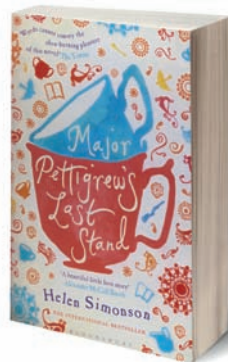

While dealing with the death of his brother, inheritance issues and a strained relationship with his ambitious son, Roger, the Major discovers he is not too old for romance as he befriends the widow, Mrs. Ali.

Mrs. Ali, a charitable Pakistani widow who runs the corner shop shares his grief at the loss of a beloved spouse and a passion for reading, especially the works of Kipling. The two embark upon a friendship that soon blossoms into something a little more – much to the displeasure of the village gossips and those at the golf club. Even their own families have mixed feelings but sometimes, even if a little out of character, decisive action is called for.

A CHARMING
NOVEL WITH SOME
LAUGH OUT LOUD
MOMENTS AND A
TRIP BACK HOME TO ENGLISH
VILLAGE LIFE

Major Pettigrew's Last Stand is a charming novel. It's a book filled with real characters some laugh out loud moments and a trip back home to English village life, well for me anyway. Their journey through two different cultures, the prejudices of a 'broad-minded' generation as well as their own foibles just to find a little piece of happiness is written beautifully.

So who says you can't judge a book by its cover. I am not saying it's an edge of your seat, can't put it down, must turn the page type of thing but the calming yet poignant place it down with a sigh type. Certainly well worth a read I would highly recommend it.

Major Pettigrew's Last Stand is available now at WH Smith's in Al Marsa Village.

DRY KLEEN ONLY

Muscat's favourite dry cleaners have come to Al Marsa Village. To make sure you look your best and your clothes are kept in tip top condition here are our top five dry cleaning tips.

- 1/ Don't leave a pile of clothes in the back seat of your car, waiting until you have time to stop at the cleaner. Sunlight and heat in a closed car can cause your garments to fade and will ultimately weaken fabric fibres.
- 2/ Always check the label to make sure the item of clothing is suitable for dry cleaning. Many types of wool, such as angora and lambs wool can't be dry cleaned because it tends to cause shrinkage.
- 3/ Always dry clean sets of clothes, such as suits, at the same time. This will ensure that over time any slight colour changes will be consistent.
- 4/ Go through all the pockets and take out anything you find, as it's liable to be lost during cleaning. Some things, like a pen or a sweet, could even ruin the clothes if left inside. Kwik Kleen will always check the pockets before hand but it's better to be safe than sorry.
- 5/ If you know there's a stain on the item that you're taking to be cleaned show the dry cleaner exactly where it is and if you know tell them what it is. Many people assume that dry cleaning automatically removes stains - that's simply not the case. It will usually remove odours and grime, but stains will need special treatment.

THE FAST AND THE FURIOUS!

Okay so maybe it's not quite the Hollywood blockbuster but sometimes our quiet and peaceful neighbourhood roads can feel a little that way. To date we have had no serious traffic incidents at The Wave and we want to keep it that way. Life is not here to lecture or preach the good word of The Wave but we're sure you'll all agree that an occasional little reminder of a few important facts will keep our community moving at good speed.

Sometimes we are running a little late or we just want to get home after a long day at work but it is still important to stay within the speed limit of 30kph. The Wave is a lively outdoor community with children playing throughout the neighbourhood but speeding is a growing problem and putting this safe atmosphere at risk.

Parking - we understand that not everyone wants to park their car in the garage. No problem. The Wave have designed the streets so that they can accommodate parallel parked cars while still allowing room for passing traffic. However frequently seen diagonal parking means that pavements are being blocked and pedestrians are forced to walk on the road.

To keep your neighbourhood pedestrian friendly and safe for children we recommend parking your car parallel to the pavement with two wheels on the pavement and two wheels on the road. Even with large 4x4s there will still be plenty of room for passing traffic.

Above is an example of where a driver has obstructed the pavement
